

What Happened in Uganda? Declining HIV prevalence, Behavior Change, and the National Response

Washington DC: United States Agency for International Development, USAID, 2002. 20 p.

Organizations:

United States Agency for International Development, USAID

Description:

This document is not intended to provide a definite explanation for Uganda's AIDS prevention successes during the 1980s and 1990s. Rather, it is a synthesis of presentations made in February 2002 at the U.S. Agency for International Development (USAID) by four individuals with long-term experience in HIV prevention in Africa. USAID commissioned a summary document synthesising the ideas presented by these researchers. Not all the statistics are presented here; however, it is hoped that the main points described here will give some insight into how Uganda has managed to control its HIV epidemic during the past 15 years.
