Description:

These sample units of work for Grade 5 Health and Grade 6-8 Personal Development are designed to help teachers plan, program and teach. They contain many ideas for participatory teaching and learning activities and assessment tasks. They can be used to teach the learning outcomes related to HIV/AIDS, reproductive health, puberty and healthy living. Teachers should also feel free to adapt and edit these sample units of work for the needs of their students and communities. These supplementary materials are not compulsory. Instead they are new ideas written by Papua New Guinea teachers for fellow teachers. They are examples of best practice in planning, programming, teaching and assessment.
