Alcohol and Drug Prevention Briefing Paper

Description:

When delivering alcohol and drug education in multicultural settings including classrooms, teachers will need to tackle sensitive issues. Not all pupils are comfortable discussing certain topics, and some parents are reluctant to allow their children to explore certain themes. How to ensure pupils receive relevant education, in the context of cultural difference, equality and diversity, which prepares them for the challenges and opportunities they will face throughout their lives? This briefing paper outlines key requirements to ensure the delivery of culturally sensitive alcohol and drug education in the classroom.
